

WRITING JOURNAL BY

MY WRITING JOURNAL:

THE WEEK

My motto for the week

This is what I want to accomplish this week

My idea

This, I want to do exactly like I always do

This, I want to try and change

MONDAY

This is what I want to accomplish today

5 minutes before finish: time for a reflection

This went well

This is what I accomplished

In this, I am contemplating to change my working technique / my writing process

How do I proceed? What's the next step?

TUESDAY

This is what I want to accomplish today

5 minutes before finish: time for a reflection

This went well

This is what I accomplished

In this, I am contemplating to change my working technique / my writing process

How do I proceed? What's the next step?

WEDNESDAY

This is what I want to accomplish today

5 minutes before finish: time for a reflection

This went well

This is what I accomplished

In this, I am contemplating to change my working technique / my writing process

How do I proceed? What's the next step?

THURSDAY

This is what I want to accomplish today

5 minutes before finish: time for a reflection

This went well

This is what I accomplished

In this, I am contemplating to change my working technique / my writing process

How do I proceed? What's the next step?

FRIDAY

This is what I want to accomplish today

5 minutes before finish: time for a reflection

This went well

This is what I accomplished

In this, I am contemplating to change my working technique / my writing process

How do I proceed? What's the next step?

MY CONCLUSION FOR THIS WEEK

How did the week go for me?

What was good?

What are aspects I would like to keep up?

Where do I see room for improvement?